

There are two choices for this book:

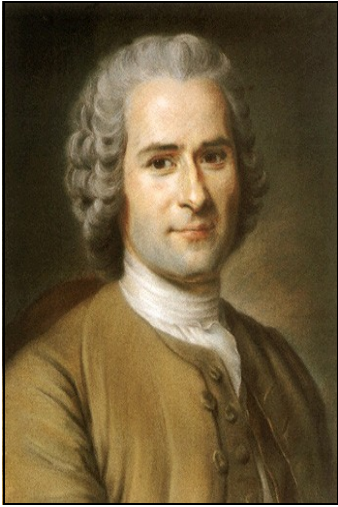

This is the title page to glue on the front of your book. Use this same title for whichever “inside pages” you choose.

Use pages 2 and 3 for information already added.

Use pages 4 and 5 to add your own information.

Instructions for book. Cut out book, then fold in half. Cut out pockets and art work. Add pockets to inside bottom of book. Place artwork in pockets. Glue this title page on the front outside of your book.

About Henri Rousseau:

Henri Rousseau was a self-taught artist. He was born in 1844 in Laval, a small French town. Rousseau knew from an early age that he wanted to be a famous painter. Art and music were his favorite classes in school. He is known as the painter of exotic scenes who never saw an actual jungle. Many of the animals who lurk in Rousseau's jungles are taken from Betes Sauvages (Wild Beasts) a book published by a Paris department store.

Define surrealism: The intent of surrealism was to allow thoughts to be expressed free of any control in "automatic" manner flowing from the subconscious. Surrealists used techniques such as distortions of reality, elements of surprise and dream like imagery to create their works.

Names of artwork on front: Mandrill in the Jungle - 1909 Two Monkeys in a Jungle - 1909

Nothing makes me happier than to contemplate nature and to paint it
~Henri Rousseau~

Surprise 1891

The Repast of the Lion 1907

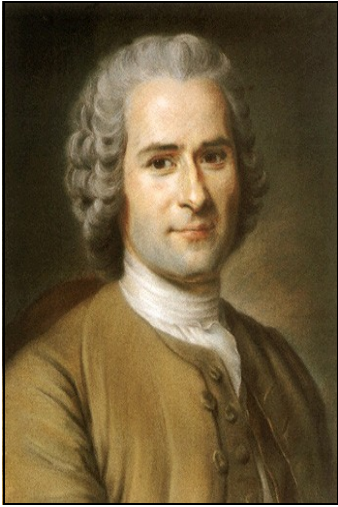

Exotic Landscape 1908

	Title: Surprise Date: 1891

	Title: Exotic Landscape Date: 1908

	Title: Repast of the Lion Date: 1907

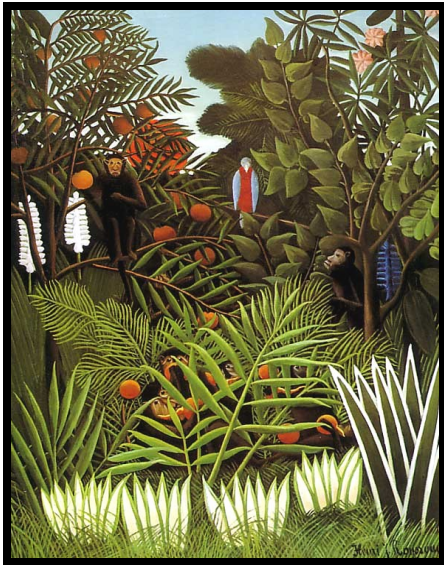

About Henri Rousseau:

Define surrealism:

Names of artwork on front:

Nothing makes me happier than to contemplate nature and to paint it
~Henri Rousseau~

	Title: Date:

	Title: Date:

	Title: Date:	