

This is the left inside of your page.

This is the right inside of your page.

- American author of Uncle Tom's Cabin.
- Uncle Tom's Cabin is an anti-slavery novel published in 1852.
- Abraham Lincoln said of her, "So this is the little lady that started this big war."
- One heart moving theme in her novel was the comparison of how slave mothers felt when their sons were sold to other owners and how she felt when her son died.

Cut out as one unit.

If you want to use the information provided in the extension, then fold back at this line.

← Glue the inside pages and then glue this part to the back of your page. You do not need to cut the extension pages.

If you want to add your own information, instead of folding here, cut here.

Harriet Beecher Stowe